DESIGNER'S NOTE: HOW EACH QUESTION IS USED

Run before design starts to size the gap and find barriers, then again at 90 days. The confidence questions map to each step of the coaching-to-decision sales model, so the same items become a before-and-after measure.

- Q4 to Q9 set the baseline for each step of the sales model, including asking, and are repeated at 90 days.
- Q10 and Q11 separate skill gaps from time and system barriers, such as a missing CRM task.
- Q10 shows whether the training needs to make asking questions, and asking for the lease, feel safe.
- Q12 and Q13 confirm the mobile-first, practice-heavy format before it's built.
- Q14 and Q15 supply real moments for scenarios and persona cards.
